of the Blue*

DR. GEORGE RAGLAND

DEDICATION

TO ONE WHO IS DEAR TO THE SENIOR CLASS
BECAUSE OF HIS COMPANIONSHIP IN AND OUT
OF THE CLASS ROOM, THIS VOLUME
OF THE

BELLE OF THE BLUE

IS DEDICATED

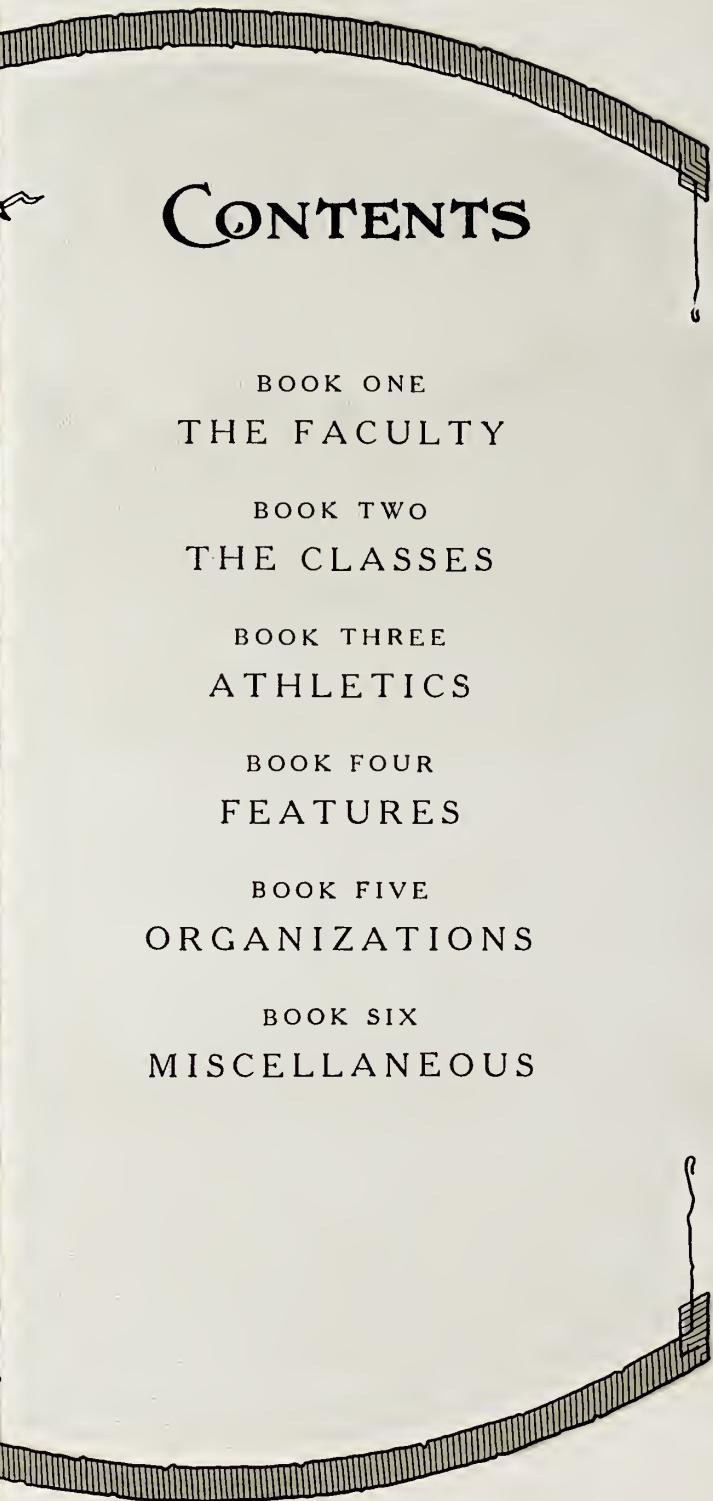

FOREWORD

SOMETIMES, when you are in a reminiscent mood and long for the days that are gone, from a half-forgotten place you will bring forth this little volume, imperfect in its make-up and crude in its form; but compiled in the hope that each page and picture will carry with it a train of pleasant memories.

If, when the candles burn low, and the scenes of the past troop by in the wake of Memory's glow, you linger for a while among the shadows of the past, forget the errors of this book and remember only its brighter pages, then we will feel that our efforts have been richly repaid.

She's very sweet and charming
With a voice that never fails;
It would not be very alarming
If the sea of Matrimony she sails.

BASCOM THOMAS HARRIS, B.S.
NICHOLASVILLE, KY.

Tau Theta Kappa Literary Society; Rhoton House Club, '20-'21; Vice-President Freshman Class, '20; Class Basketball, '20-'21; Class Football, '20-'21; Assistant Football Manager, '20-'21; Y. M. C. The ladies think him handsome,
And like to watch him pass,
This man who is so winsome,
The Lord Chesterfield of the Class.

ALLYENE GREGORY, B.S.

OWENSBORO, KY.

Alpha Literary Society; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '22; Leigh Chemical Society, '21-'22-'23; Secretary, '22-'23; Chemistry Laboratory Assistant, '21; Track Team, '20-'21; Basketball Team, '21-'22-'23; Captain, '22-'23; Girls' Athletic Director, '21-'22; Honor System Committee, '23; Executive Council, '23.

A little chemist came one day,
Only an atom she would weigh;
We could scarcely see a being so small,
Yet she could carry a basketball;
Many a merit she will unfold
As she strives onward to reach her goal.

CRAWFORD YOUNG BLAKEMAN, B.S.

JELlico, TENN.

T.O.K. Literary Society; Vice-President, '22; Leigh Chemical Society; President, '22; Treasurer of Senior Class, '22; Radio Club; Physics Club; Business Manager "Belle of the Blue," '23.

Alas! The nickel chaser lost his place
For from the Class of '23 hails one
Who grabs a nickel with more ease and grace
And pays our Annual bills, all just for fun.

MARGARET JEROME COOPER, B.S.
SOMERSET, KY.

Alpha Literary Society, '19-'20-'21-'22; Y. W. C. A., '19-'20-'21-'22; Class Secretary, '23; Feature Editor of "Belle of the Blue," '23.

Quick to learn and quick to speak,
She loves men who are so meek;
In school she's an Economics shark,
And some day she'll surely make her mark.

JAMES LEO CLOAR, A.B., II K A TEXARKANA, TEX.

Ciceronian Literary Society; Critic, '22; Varsity Football, '19-'20-'21-'22; Captain, '21; Varsity Baseball, '20-'21-'22-'23; International Relations Club, Treasurer, '22; Class Basketball, '23; Boys' Glee Club, '20-'21; Joke Editor of Georgetonian, '20; Athletic Editor of "Belle of the Blue," '23.

If there is any information that you should like to get,
I am as well posted a man as you have ever met;
Some wonder at my wisdom, with a feeling of surprise;
Drinking "Campbell's" soup made me a right good size.

JENNIE ALMA COX, A.B.

BURGIN, KY.

Y. W. C. A.; Alpha Literary Society; Senior Representative Self-Government Council, '22-'23; S. M. S.

Sincere and deep in college life;
Thorough, efficient and able;
Willing to plod through any strife,
And always found very capable.

He has a method all his own,
And he's sure to carry his notes;
If any one desires to be shown
On his little book he dotes.

ATA LEIGHTON LEE, B.S.
SOMERSET, KY.

Y. W. C. A.; Zeta Literary Society, '19-'20-'21-'22; President, '22; Expression Club, '21; Assistant in Home Economics Laboratory, '23.

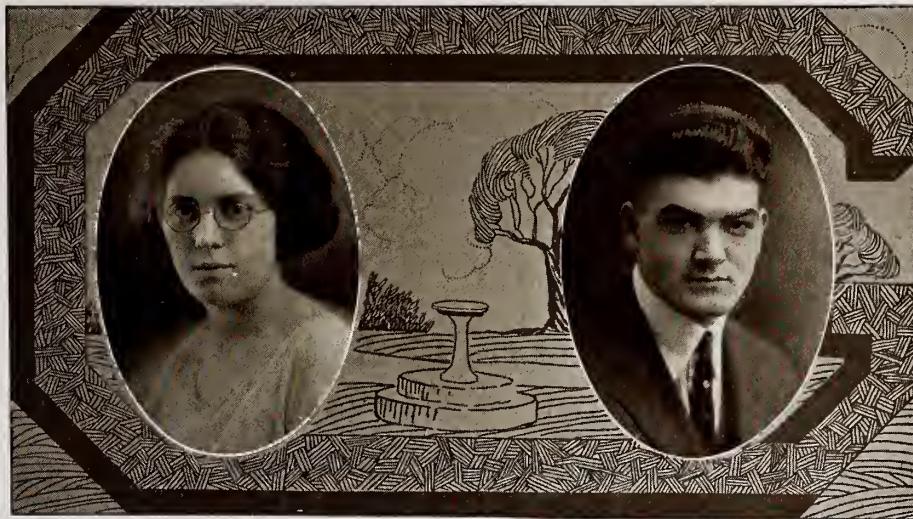

There comes from the Class of '23
A poetess of gentle art,
Famous she is sure to be
For in making the Annual she did her part.

WALLACE G. BECKLEY, A.B., A Δ Σ
PLEASUREVILLE, KY.

President Freshman English Club, '19; Ciceronian Literary Society; Critic, '19; Editor, '20; Prosecuting Attorney, '21; President, '22; Varsity Basball, '20-'21-'22-'23; Captain, '23; Scrub Football, '19-'20; Varsity, '21; Athletic Committee, '21-'22; Class Track Team, '20-'21-'22; Inter-Society Debate, '21; Shelby County Club, '20-'21-'22-'23; Rhoton House Club, '20-'21; Business Manager Georgetonian, '22-'23; Photographic Editor "Belle of the Blue," '23; Alpha Delta Sigma; Vice-President, '22; President Senior Class, '23; Vice-President Student Body, '23; Armstrong Expression Club; Certificate in Expression, '23.

Some like him for his dimple,
Some like him for his smile,
The mystery is so simple
Why girls fall all the while;
How could a man have satisfaction
To break a heart each day?
We grant that he is an attraction,
And we admit that it is just his way.

MARJORIE ESTELLA GARBER, A.B.
GEORGETOWN, KY.

Zeta Literary Society, Orpheus Club; Red-headed Club.

A quiet and gentle manner,
A student just the same;
She's bound to win a banner
And on it is written fame.

SAMUEL HENRY FLOWERS, A.B.
OLMSTEAD, KY.

Bethel College, '19-'20-'21; Varsity Football, '20; Charles Champion Cup, '21; A. A. Degree, '21; Georgetown College, '21; Varsity Football, '21-'22; Manager Basketball, '23; Y. M. C. A. President, '22; Agoga S.S. Class; Secretary-Treasurer, '22; Sheriff Pawling Hall Court, '22; Tau Theta Kappa Literary Society; Editor, '22; Critic, '22.

This is one of the present day powers;
The Fates thought to cheat us when they named him Flowers.
And decreed that he a farmer should be,
And live among the flowers, and birds, and bees.

GLADYS CAYTON, A.B.

GHENT, KY.

Zeta Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Polo Team, '20-'21; Red-headed Club; Secretary-Treasurer, '22-'23; Fidelis Sunday School Class Treasurer, '22-'23; Lambda Omicron Mu Classical Society; Theme Reader, '22-'23.

Quiet and persevering,
Her goal she is bound to win,
Diligent and never fearing,
She'll go through thick and thin.

GLOVER W. CASSITY, B.S.

He's full of jolly ways
And like unto a clown;
He jumps into his Ford
And rides all over town.

CLARA GARNETTE SEE, A.B., X Δ Φ

LOUISA, KY.

Zeta Literary Society; Eastern Kentucky Club, Secretary-Treasurer, '18-'19; Spanish Club, '18; Red-headed Club, President, '22; Basketball Squad, '19; Class Basketball, '21; Expression Club, '21; Mountain Club, '21-'22; Georgetown Club; U. of K., Summer Session, '22, Vice-President; Creative Literary Society, Treasurer, '22; Honor Roll, '22.

Of studying she never tired,
In any course she never failed;
By students and teachers alike admired
As on her way she happily sails.

ROGER INLOW BERGHAUSER, A.B.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Editor of Quarterly, '22-'23; Leader Student Volunteer Band, '22-'23; Third Vice-President Student Ministers' Association, '22-'23; Chaplain T.O.K. Literary Society, '21; Tennis Team, '22.

A good industrious student,
With a long-drawn-out speech;
He could talk right on forever,
But no task is out of his reach.

JENNIE DOROTHY PIERCE, A.B., X Δ Φ
CATLETTSBURG, KY.

Alpha Literary Society; Summer President, '21; Treasurer, '22; Glee Club, '20-'21-'23; Choral Club, '21-'22; Secretary, '21; President, '22; Orpheus Club, '21-'22-'23; Vice-President Self-Government Council, '20; Executive Committee Student Body, '20-'22; Honor System Committee, '21; President Mountain Club, '21; President French Club, '21; Assistant Editor "Belle of the Blue," '23; President International Relations Club, '22; Creative Literary Club, '22; Honor Roll, '20-'21; Vice-President Junior Class, '21.

Industrious and capable,
With a very brilliant mind;
No girl could be more popular,
No one could be more kind.

WILLIAM H. VAUGHAN, A.B., Π K Δ
LOUISA, KY.

Y. M. C. A., President, '22; T.O.K., Vice-President, '22; President Agoga S.S. Class, '22-'23; Pi Kappa Delta, President, '22-'23; Debating Team, '22; President Mountain Club, '22; Laboratory Assistant in Chemistry, '21-'22; Editor "Belle of the Blue," '23.

A studious, persevering man,
Always chivalrous and polite;
His motto is "I can,"
And he's sure to come out right.

MARY ELIZABETH LEWIS, B.S.
FINCHVILLE, KY.

Alpha Literary Society, '19-'20-'21-'22; Y. W. C. A., '19-'20-'21-'22.

Few like her could ere be found
With a generosity that is unbound;
Any service she would do,
A gentle friend tried and true.

WILLIAM GORDON HAMMOCK, A.B.
CLAY, KY.

Honor Roll, '19-'21; Vice-President Lambda Omicron Mu, '21; President, '22; Student Ministers' Association, '19-'20-'21-'22; Tau Theta Kappa Literary Society; Judge Pawling Hall Court, '20-'21.

Samson's strength lay in his hair,
But mine is in my tongue;
It helped me win a lady fair
And now I keep her for my own.

HESTER BELLE ANDERSON, A.B., X A Φ
STANFORD, KY.

Alpha Literary Society; English Club, '21-'22; Lambda Omicron Mu Classical Society, '22-'23; Choral Club, '22-'23; Assistant Art Editor "Belle of the Blue," '23; Secretary Creative Literary Club, '23; Secretary Lambda Chapter of Chi Delta Phi.

A lady very industrious,
Who often changes her mind;
She likes the men illustrious
And in courting she's never behind.

DENZIL BRUCE CARPENTER, B.S.
BURLINGTON, KY.

Ciceronian Literary Society; Expression Club; Class Football, '19-'20-'21; Red-headed Club, '20-'21-'22; Northern Kentucky Club, '22.

What could all the attraction be?
At first his wavy hair you see;
If this young man you should meet,
Could you see his head and miss his feet?

MARTHA DOUGLAS MORROW, A.B.
ADAIRVILLE, KY.

Orpheus Club, '20-'21; Girls' Glee Club, '20-'21; Zeta Literary Society; Vice-President Senior Class, '22.

A gentle maiden,

Ambitious and conscientious,
Always going in a whirl;
In duty never failing,
Always failing for a girl.

WILLIE HERNDON OFFUTT, A.B.
GEORGETOWN, KY.

International Relations Club, '22; English Club, '21.

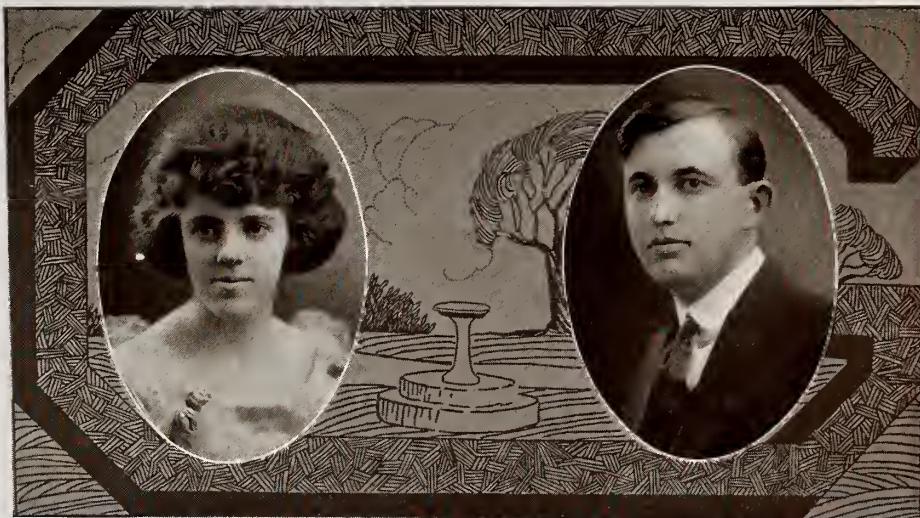

With a simple unaffected manner
And a face all hid in smiles,
She holds under true friendship's banner
All those around her for miles and miles.

Some come to school to master a book,
But he is more fortunate than they;
For here he met a lady with modest look
And has won her, too, so they say.

BEULAH FAY SUMMERS, A.B.

GEOGETOWN, KY.

Entered 1921 from Texas College of Mines; Orpheus Club, '21-'22; English Club, '21-'22; Alpha Literary Society; Honor Roll, '21-'22.

Beulah is just a modest girl
With a crown of golden curls;
In all things she is very exact,
And watches over every act.

AARON T. ROSS, A.B.

BEAVER DAM, KY.

T.O.K. Literary Society, '19-'20-'21-'22; Corresponding Secretary Ministerial Association, '21-'22.

Schoolteacher, parson and married man,
These are the degrees he has won;
Surely he is an ambitious man
For now he adds a new one.

EVA E. MCKAY, A.B.

MONTICELLO, KY.

Alpha Literary Society; Lambda Omicron Mu Classical Society, Secretary-Treasurer, '21; President, '22; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '21-'22; Student Government Council, Sophomore Representative, '21; Secretary, '21-'22; Vice-President, '22-'23; Orpheus Club; Honor System Committee, '22-'23.

I like sports of winter
When we wrap from foot to head;
But the best sport while in college
Is when I have my little "Sleadd."

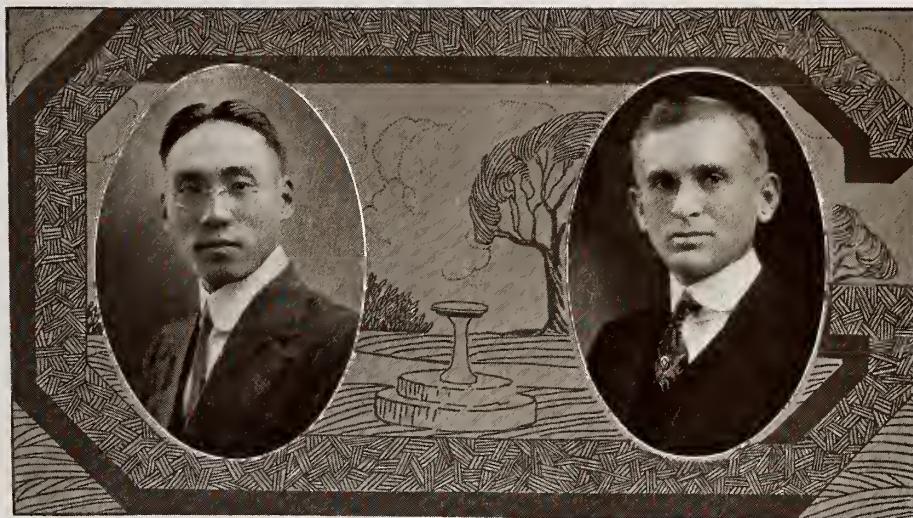

WILLIAM EDGAR NEWBOLT, B.S.

OWENSBORO, KY.

Tau Theta Kappa Literary Society; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '22; Vice-President S. M. S., '22-'23.

Not so young as his name suggests,
A preacher who loves to jest;
About him this secret I will tell,
He yet must learn how to spell.

BAO SI DING, B.S.

CHINA

Shanghai College; Chaplain Literary Society, '19; Secretary Student Volunteer Band, '19; Georgetown College; T.O.K. Literary Society; Chaplain, '20; Junior Representative Honor System Committee, '21; Student Volunteer Band; English Club; Student Missionary Society; Ministerial Conference.

His name is Bao Si Ding,
From far off China he comes
To Georgetown's sheltering walls;
In the days that are to come
His earnest voice will ring
In China's largest halls.

LENNON ARCHIE BYRD, B.S.

I love the ladies, true enough,
But I am not gifted with many words;
So far I have met but little luck,
Still I am a game old Byrd.

Looking Backward

Since it has been the custom from time immemorial for the achievements of man to be recorded in history, the Class of '23 feels that it, too, must leave its record which was begun in September, 1919.

When the Class of '23 entered the portals of this noble institution, there were ninety-three who were bound together "to do or die." It was our aim to give our College the best we had, so we took as our motto, "Hitch your wagon to a star." It is true that the road has not been easy, but the lessons we have learned in the hard school of experience are only to make us victorious in the battle of life.

Since the day we were launched upon the sea of a college career, only a few, compared with the classes that have entered since, have drifted from our midst. In the four years that we have been here we have furnished presidents and other officers for the various organizations. We have furnished captains and other stars in the field of athletics. This year, the editors of both the "Georgetownian" and "The Georgetown Quarterly" were chosen from our ranks.

But we have reached the time to which we have looked forward four long years. We have dreamed of it, pictured it and, perhaps, (?) even talked of it, and now that it is time for us to break with the past we regret to leave. We have completed the curriculum of Georgetown College, only to begin our course in the University of Life.

"Old years and new years, all blended into one,
The best of what there is to be, and best of what is gone—
Let's bury all the failures in the dim and dusty past
And keep the smiles of friendship and laughter to the last.

"Old years and new years, we need them one and all
To reach the dome of character and build its sheltering wall;
Past failures tried the souls of us, but if their tests we stood
The sum of what we are to be may yet be counted good.

"Old years and new years, with all their pain and strife,
Are but the bricks and steel and stone with which we fashion life,
So put the sin and shame away, and keep the fine and true,
And on the glory of the past let's build the better new."

Junior Class History

SEPTEMBER, 1920, saw the arrival at Georgetown of one of the largest freshman classes the institution has ever boasted. One hundred and thirty-three enthusiastic young Georgetonians were registered in the busy first few days of that memorable year.

Quietly, as freshmen always should, these took up the torch flung back by those Georgetonians who have passed on; and they have ever since tried to maintain the traditions of their predecessors. The record that they have written into the history of Georgetown College needs no repetition here. They need not call to mind the dead past to justify their existence in Georgetown College as the Class of 1924; custom alone prompts them to recount here a few of the facts concerning themselves.

The individualism always characteristic of freshman classes disappeared quickly. The desire to write large their name in Georgetown history demanded organization. The sophomore year found them not dead clods not yet stirring to life; class consciousness came early, and with it concerted effort to count for the things that count for most.

Few, if any, have been the phases of college life that have not felt the impress of the writing finger of the Class of '24. In oratory, music, athletics, society, student organizations and, incidentally, in class work, they have all along the line borne their share of the burden, asking nothing for themselves, but only that the college might be improved by their having been here. Their participation in wholesome activities has ever been limited only by their modesty in deferring honor and offices to those whose stay here has been longer. Now, as they have passed the third lap of their way and come to the place where the responsibility for leadership is more truly theirs, they rejoice that their powers are to be given room.

Many of the original number have written and passed on, but those who have remained remember them for the contributions they made while they were here, and glory in their achievements, not selfishly, but because they have meant glory for old Georgetown. As they face seniority and the beyond, the Class of '24 looks forward hopefully. The fact of past achievements spurs the class, as a class and as individuals, to press on to play for the larger stakes of life with the same square, fair, winning spirit that has made the Class of '24 what it is.

History of the Sophomore Class

NOTHER year of college life has become history. Far be it from the Class of '25 to remember it with sadness. The difficulties and troubles have become insignificant, and towering above these are the victories and triumphs.

The greenness, which was manifest during our freshman year, was not altogether natural. Of course, we had a slight natural tinge of verdancy, but we were never really what we seemed to be in the eyes of the upper classmen. We were as docile as lambs when we received orders, but we always knew what we were about. Like all others, we purchased "campus tickets," and tried to keep all other freshman obligations. In our class work we were timid and bashful, at first, avoiding our instructors because we thought that they had no other ideals than to compell a student to suffer. Soon this idea vanished from our minds, and the love for our instructors increased as we labored with them day by day. We learned that they were our friends in failure or victory. When we had a difficulty, they were willing to share it; when we had a success, our joy was no greater than theirs. Thus the freshman class soon emerged from under the first stage of bashfulness. As time passed our greenness faded; nevertheless we were willing to bear the name Green during the whole year.

As sophomores, who are amazed at the greenness of the present freshman class, we are absorbing more and more of the ideals of Georgetown College. The class has learned the importance of leadership, and has not failed to show its ability to lead. If the athletic, literary or social life is reviewed, it will be evident that from the sophomore class has come a considerable part of college leadership. Up to this time no less than ten members possess the distinguishing "G." The class was signally honored through the ability of one of our number who represented us in all major sports. Several members took part in the literary side of college life. The declamatory contest was won by one of our young women. Two of our boys received the Forensic key as a reward for their ability.

Of course, the class has not been, and is not now, free from mistakes. These have been many and frequent. But, believing that the achievements of the past point toward a brighter future, the Class of '25 is using these mistakes as stepping stones to the success that shall be reached in some future day.

Freshman Class History

NE of the most impressive speeches ever recorded in history was Pershing's "Lafayette, we are here." And thus it was on September 19th, when the college doors were swung open, the great incoming freshman class announced, "Georgetown, we are here!"

However, without this information the college in general and the faculty in particular, knew we had arrived. The freshman dean received a little more of our attention, perhaps, than the rest of the faculty, but we tried to show no partiality and gave them all their share. We not only contributed to the professors' burdens, but also to the college's athletic glory in that the freshman football team almost outshone the varsity eleven. If the freshmen had not been ineligible, some of the men who received letters would have had a little competition in obtaining them. But next year this year's freshman team will be eligible for the varsity, and for them and for the team there is a brilliant future in store.

When the freshman class entered college, the campus was entirely altered in color. It assumed a bright green hue. But we wore the caps and sashes with a grin and let the sophomores have all their pent-up revenge. It is to the freshmen, as a rule, that the entire college turns for amusement, and so far, we have upheld the usual record and have never disappointed them.

From our number have come winners in popularity contests, society officers and athletes, as well as mathematics, chemistry and physics sharks. We feel sure that for the next three years we will live up to the reputation we have made and, finally, that we will make G. C. proud of the Class of '26.

Football

HEN school opened in September, football practice started, as usual, and started with a swing that delighted all followers of the Orange and Black. The gridiron warriors were greeted by a new coach, James W. Coleman, of the University of Arkansas, formerly all-Southwestern center. There was a scarcity of material, but a few old veterans were on hand, and a few outstanding scrubs of last year who were now ripe to take upon themselves the task of filling the glaring vacancies left by those who departed with diplomas in June.

The whole outlook was not so bright as it should have been, but Coach Coleman started in with vim, and many could see Cuckoo feathers flying in the air. Practice continued, the squad improving with each setting of the sun. The team developed rapidly, and at the end of the season, Coach Coleman's men were called by the followers of the gridiron sport, "The fightingest team in Kentucky."

A Retrospection of Football

THE "Fighting Tiger" Team of 1922 was one more of a long line of Orange and Black gridiron machines that showed the famous fighting spirit which is characteristic of teams representing Georgetown College. In a schedule of eight games, they won three victories, tied with Morris-Harvey, who had defeated some of the strongest teams in West Virginia, and were defeated by the strong Kentucky State team, by Wilmington, by the heavy green team of Marshall, and by Transylvania.

On the whole, it was more than a fair season for the Tigers because the superb fighting spirit the team showed in every game of the season spoke well for their fit condition and high-class morale. While this record (especially with Transylvania) may be considered below par, the fighting spirit of the Tigers and their fit condition ranks them along with the best in the S. I. A. A. The team showed great versatility on the offense; end runs, forward passing and drop kicking being used in bringing victory. On the defense, the "Fighting Tigers" showed to the best advantage, holding their heavier opponents in every game to a reasonable score.

The brightest features of the season's work were the notable victory over Chattanooga and the moral victory over Morris-Harvey. Brief sketches of the various games of the season follow:

CUMBERLAND, O; GEORGETOWN, 24

The first game of the 1922 season was ushered in by the Tigers by completely outclassing Cumberland College. Cumberland was never able to hold Georgetown's backs, who plowed through their lines at will. Long, Pollock, Daniels, Bauer and Cloar covered themselves with glory in this game.

WESLEYAN, 14; GEORGETOWN, 15

Over-confidence and a bad field came near defeating the Tigers in their second start of the season. Kentucky Wesleyan, supposed to be an innocent victim waiting to be licked, surprised the Georgetown men and outfought them through the first half, scoring two touchdowns to Georgetown's none. The Tigers came back strong in the second half and were able to nose the Methodists out by the margin of a single point, Captain Pollock's educated toe figuring in the victory. Long, Captain Pollock and Daniels carried off the honors of the day for the Orange and Black.

KENTUCKY, 40; GEORGETOWN, 6

Fighting against overwhelming odds, the Tigers accomplished that which very few teams have been able to accomplish this season when they met the Wildcats on Hinton Field, October 21st. They scored on Kentucky State. When right tackle Bauer crossed the Kentucky goal line, he did something that no Tiger had achieved in ten years and only three times in twenty-one years. The feature of this game was the fighting of the entire Tiger team, with Captain Pollock, Cloar, Jacoby and Yancy starring.

MORRIS-HARVEY, O; GEORGETOWN, O

The next game on the program, the Tigers won a victory that the score does not indicate. The Morris-Harvey team was composed of men that were known throughout West Virginia as "football merchants." When Coach Coleman's men held that aggregation to a scoreless tie they accomplished something that no other team has been able to do this year. It was in this game that the Georgetown men demonstrated their fighting ability when they held the heavy West Virginia eleven three times in the shadow of the goal posts. In this game, the outstanding stars for Georgetown were Long and Cloar.

MARSHALL, 30; GEORGETOWN, 0

Fighting against a team that outweighed them at least fifteen pounds to the man, the Tigers were forced to bite the dust to the tune of 30-0. Again the Georgetown men lived up to their name of "Fighting Tigers," and it was only through sheer weight that the big green team was able to overcome the lighter team. In the first part of the game, the Tigers held the West Virginia eleven to a small score, but it was impossible for a team outweighed fifteen pounds to take all the punishment the heavier team gave and not give ground. In this game, the generalship of Long, the pass-snagging of Daniels, and the kicking of Captain Pollock featured.

WILMINGTON, 22; GEORGETOWN, 7

The highly touted team from Wilmington College came down to Kentucky expecting to engage in a track-meet with all the running done by their backs. They had defeated Transylvania and Kentucky Wesleyan by good scores, and they were counting on piling up another. But the opposite happened. The Tigers fought the heavier Ohio lads every inch of the way, and the final score proved what Coach Coleman's men can do when outweighed thirty pounds. This was the biggest team that the Tigers played throughout the season. The features were the defensive work of Cloar, the all-around playing of Captain Pollock, Robinson and Long.

CHATTANOOGA, 6; GEORGETOWN, 20

Fighting against odds, as only Georgetown Tigers can, Coach Coleman's "Fighting Tigers" buried the strong Chattanooga eleven in the mud of Hinton Field in their annual game before Georgetown's Thanksgiving classic. The game was one of the best that has been seen on the local gridiron in many years. The Moccasins were doped to win by at least two touchdowns, but, as usual, dope failed to pick the winner. The features of the game were the all-around playing of Captain Pollock, Long and Cloar, and the work of the entire Tiger line.

Captain Pollock and Cloar, playing their last game on Hinton Field, led the Tigers to a glorious victory. Pollock's offensive work was brilliant. He outpunted his opponent by at least five yards on every kick and during the last few seconds of the game the Tiger leader electrified the crowd by intercepting one of the Southerners' passes and sprinting sixty-five yards for a touchdown. Cloar played one of the best games that he has ever played on Hinton Field. He blocked every line play that the opposing quarter threw at the center of the line, tackled low and hard, causing the Chattanooga backs on several occasions to run the ends.

TRANSYLVANIA, 16; GEORGETOWN, 13

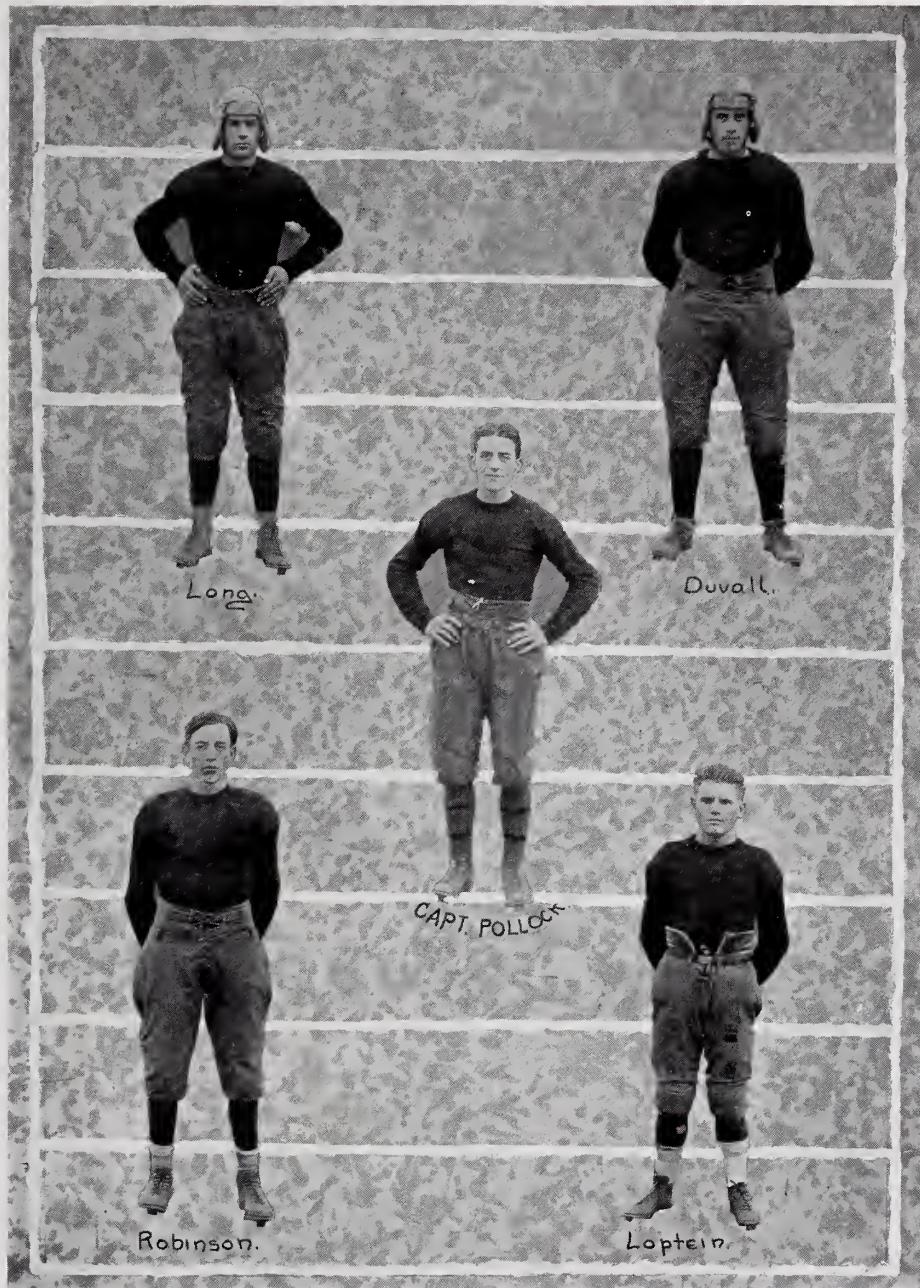

The Georgetown Tigers were forced to accept defeat at the hands of their ancient enemy, Transylvania, on Thomas Field, Lexington, Thanksgiving Day, by a score of 16-13. The battle was hard fought from beginning to the last whistle. The Tigers did not play up to their mid-season form and, coupling this with over-confidence, lost the day. Punk Thompson, Transylvania's sterling quarterback, scored all his team's points and the Georgetown Tigers willingly take off their hats to this pig-skin artist. The features of the game for Georgetown were the playing of Captain Pollock, Long, Duvall and "Lady" Robinson.

IMMEDIATELY after the closing of the football season, Coach Coleman issued the call for his net artists. The material was composed mostly of veterans and a few outstanding stars of last year's freshman team. Practice started with vim, but hopes were dampened by the serious illness of Coach Coleman. The team plugged on as best they could without a coach, but did not put out the brand of ball that they were capable of.

When coach arose from his sick bed and took over the reins once more, the Tigers began to improve immediately. They really hit their stride when they defeated the University of Kentucky by an overwhelming score. Transylvania also succumbed to the fast traveling Tigers. The climax of the season was reached when Coach Coleman took his pets to the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Tournament. They drew the University of Chattanooga as their first opponent, and were defeated by a narrow margin. Chattanooga proved to be the runners-up in the tournament.

Look out for the Tigers of '24!

Freshmen in Athletics

OR the first time in the history of athletics in Georgetown College a distinct freshman athletic schedule was maintained during the 1922-23 term, with the verdant squad playing regular games in all major sports, supervised by the freshman coach. The recent ruling of the S. I. A. A., prohibiting the playing of freshmen on varsity teams, made necessary the introduction of freshman schedules as distinct from the varsity schedule. This new venture also necessitated a coach to handle the work and develop the new material to the point where it could be used the following year for the first-string events. Courtland F. Pollard, former G. C. athlete, and later coach at Broadus College, was secured to handle the first-year men.

In football, the freshies played several regular games, winning three, losing three and drawing the seventh. As a beginning in this field, this is not a bad showing, and it is stated that in addition to dividing honors with their opponents, the "Tigerettes" also developed several men that will prove of utility to Coach Coleman for his varsity next year. Among the promising number are Shipp, Taylor, Neal, Major and Boswell. All of these men showed up well on the emerald squad and they are slated to do big things next year on the big squad.

The freshmen were handicapped in basketball by a late start, but notwithstanding this fact, made a creditable showing and displayed real playing ability in the pinches.

No estimate can be placed on the first-year men's ability on the diamond as that sport has not been started at the time of this writing. It has been predicted, however, that being Americans, they will make an even better showing in the national sport than they did in basketball and football. The Freshman Class also contains several men who come highly recommended for their efficiency on the track, and if the reports are true, some of these will be developed into record breakers after they reach the point where they can represent the college in intercollegiate athletics.

Code of Honor

EALIZING that as a member of the student body of Georgetown College one's life is not a thing separate and distinct, but the rather a vital part of a complex organization, that where he is weak the whole is weakened, that from his strength the organization is strengthened; moreover, earnestly wishing that this college stand for the biggest things of life, operate with the traditions, be it resolved that:

1. He should be a positive factor in Georgetown College.
2. He should conduct himself as a gentleman (or lady) should.
3. His class room and examination work shall be entirely his own.
4. In all cases where he is acting on his honor, without supervision, he shall not betray the confidence entrusted in him.
5. As a representative of the College he should conduct himself in such a manner as to reflect credit upon the institution.
6. He should bear in mind the fact that he is a student of Georgetown College, that his every act reflects credit or discredit upon his fellow students, and that partially in his hands lies the future of this institution.

Alpha

She's always full of pep and enthusiasm; she's always smiling the friendliest smile and saying the kindest word; she's always boasting the best things in school.—Who is she? She's an Alpha!

Ever since the division of Eupeian Society into Alpha and Zeta, the Alphas have stood for the best things on the campus. Look around at the most prominent girls in school, and find that they're Alphas. Alpha teaches her girls to be self-reliant and to be leaders in everything they undertake, not only in college life, but in the communities into which they go after graduation.

To every Alpha girl, her pin of pearls and garnets typifies the purity, loyalty, fidelity and high ideals for which Alpha always has and always will stand.

Zeta

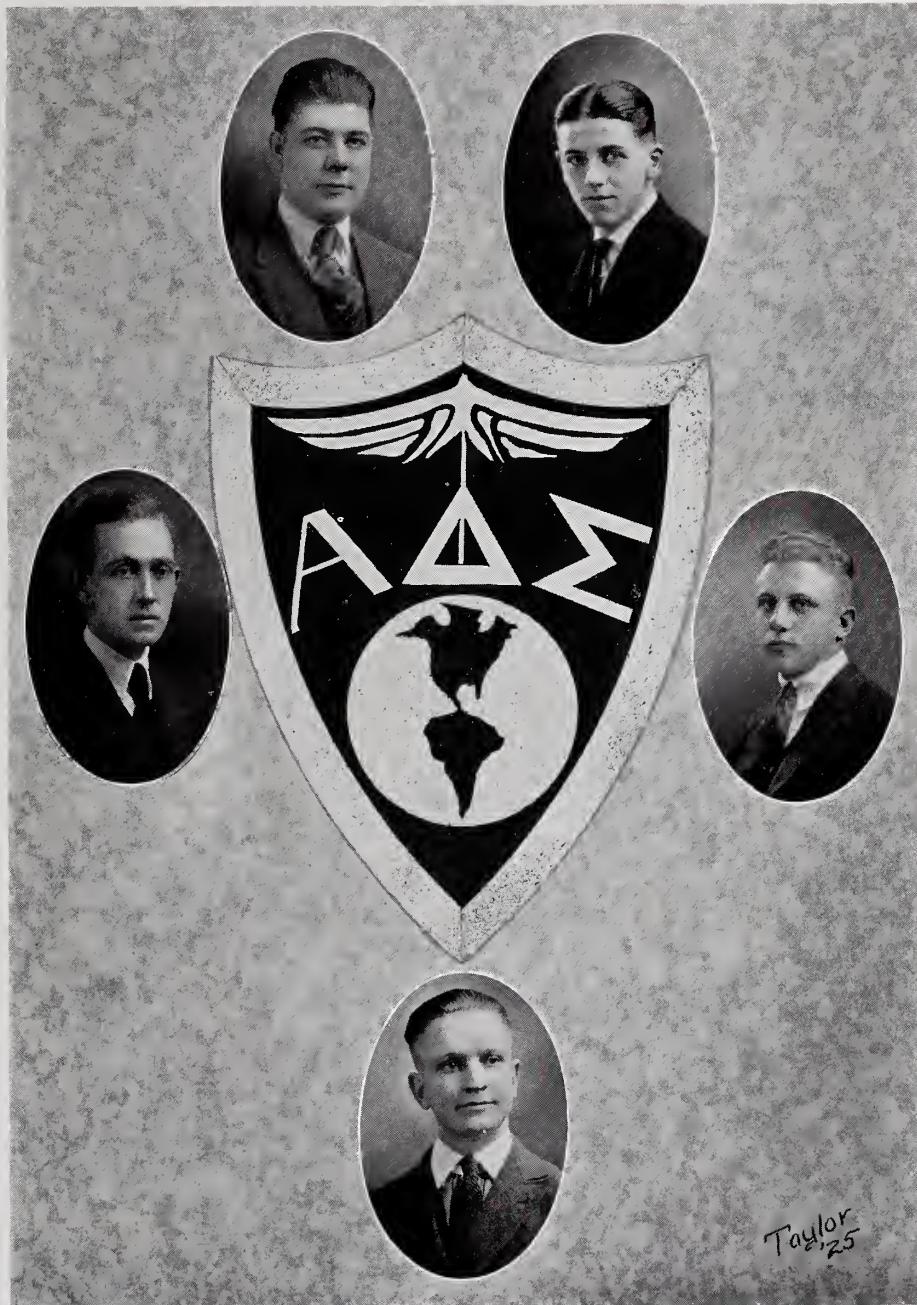

Zestful, Enthusiastic, Trustworthy, Alive,
 We Zetas try to be;
 In declamation we are as fine
 As one could wish to see;
 In athletics we can hold a place
 Among the very best;
 In everything that needs some pep
 We're sure to stand the test.

For years we've headed the procession
 Of all that's good and true;
 Let's always strive to keep unmarred
 The "rep" of the Gold and Blue;
 May Zeta's Bluebird guide us onward
 In a glorious career,
 And make our work and fun as well
 Grow better every year.

So let's give a cheer for dear old Zeta,
 Let's pledge our strength anew;
 Others may choose the Rose and White,
 But it's us for the Gold and Blue;
 Let all our troubles be forgotten
 And join in a rousing sound;
 Let's give three cheers for Zeta girls
 And three for old Georgetown.

Literary Activities

OR some reason, probably the coming of H K A, literary activities in Georgetown College have taken a new lease on life. That students are taking a new interest in forensics is evidenced by the fact that approximately forty men have declared their intention of participating in this type of student activity this year.

Interest and friendly rivalry between the Literary Societies reach a climax in the Annual Oratorical and Debating Contest. A new feature in oratoricals in G. C. is the Declamatory Contest on Forensic Day (February 22) in which the girls participate. Following these events, we have debates with Transylvania, Centre, Wesleyan and the University of Kentucky. Last year we lost only one debate in the state. Our ranking in the State Oratorical Contests is also high.

Reviewing our record in State Forensics for the past few years, and remembering the new material received in addition to the old men who are back, we do not presume too much to predict a highly successful year of literary activities for Georgetown College.

GENERAL COLLEGE REGULATIONS

While connected with the institution, students are expected to conform to the following requirements:

1. Boys may visit our neighboring city once a week. Before going, each student shall fill out a form provided for this purpose. Due to special arrangement with Wee Willie, no charge is made for the form unless an excessive number is used. This being the case, a reasonable amount for each additional form used will be deducted from the student's contingent fee.
2. It is forbidden that any mere youth become enamored of a fair maiden of Rucker Hall. However, seniors, are allowed a little leeway here.
3. All due respect must be accorded to those who sit high on the seats of authority and who reign supreme in No Man's Land.
4. Swearing, without special permit, is hereby prohibited. Those desiring to indulge in this gentle sport must fill out a form provided by Wee Willie, who will make a slight charge for same. Money derived from permits is to go into the general fund to put showers in the Gym.
5. After all athletic contests, students may gather quietly in their respective rooms and discuss the games under faculty supervision.
6. No one shall lie in bed after 7 a. m. All offenders must pay fines to the treasurer, such money to be used by the College to give the students more personal attention.
7. As has been the custom of the College for many years, chaperones will be furnished for all boys who desire to visit Lexington. Said chaperones must not be maltreated unduly, except in cases of dire necessity.
8. No concealed weapons may be carried to classes.

Announcements

GENERAL

The swimming pool in the Gym will be closed during the winter. Watch for the grand opening next spring.

The daily prayer meetings held in room 205 in Pawling Hall are a source of inspiration and joy to all the occupants of the Hall.

All young men of the College are hereby notified that the enamoring fee is now due and must be paid before the 10th inst. Failure to do this will cause denial of all Rucker Hall privileges.

Coach Pollard will not teach his Sunday School class next Sunday. He will be in Louisville attending the races.

Certain virtuous youths who are prone to match pennies are known, and will be severely frowned upon.

Dr. Thompson is suffering from a nervous breakdown resulting from the fact that Jack Nash and Russell Bauer both attended Bible 33 last Tuesday.

Young ladies will please sit on the right side of the Library; young men on the left.

DINING HALL ANNOUNCEMENTS

First come, first served.

Board must be paid in advance; it's too much trouble to dun surviving relatives.

A special nail will be provided in the dining room for the boys to hang their napkins on.

The practice of tipping waiters will be discontinued.

The killing of waiters and other breaches of etiquette will not be permitted.

Got that tired student feeling? Can't study at night? Feel like a Faculty member looks? Take ZIP. It has a kick. Served with meals in Dining Hall. Free.

Things We Know, But Aren't Going to Tell

1. Why Ruth Arnett goes to the Lib every night.
2. How many letters Bill wrote Van this year.
3. Why the Psychology Class studied the lesson, January 6th.
4. Whom Speedy gave the third picture to (we aren't saying anything about the first and second).
5. Why Rucker Hall Girls go to Prayer Meeting.
6. Whose silhouette Dr. Adams saw on the second alcove blinds.
7. Why the Editor and Business Manager had their lives insured before the Annual came out.
8. Why Dolly doesn't go home every week-end.
9. Why Frank Hall approves of the Beauty Section, and
10. Why Marion Geiger does not.

Advice to the Staff of '24

1. Don't begin work on your Annual until after the Xmas holidays.
2. Don't try to get the Annual out early. If you did, you'd have nothing to do for the balance of the year.
3. Don't charge seniors any more for their section than you do the freshmen, for they'll get sore if you do. If you should happen to come out in the hole, you can pay it out of your own pocket.
4. Don't start collecting pledges until after spring holidays. Subscribers will be sure to have money before then and, consequently, will have no excuse not to pay.
5. Have your life insured before the Annual comes out. It pays! Take it from the Editor of '23. He knows.
6. Don't ask the Profs for any class cuts. You won't get 'em. You'll only get more personal attention.
7. Don't ask anybody to help you do anything. You'll have to do it yourself in the end, so you might as well start by doing it.
8. Don't try to cut down expenses. As I said before, if you come out in the hole, you can pay it out of your own pocket. It has been done before.
9. To the Business Manager: Don't bother about soliciting ads. THE BELLE OF THE BLUE is so popular that you'll have to hide from patrons who want to put in ads.
10. To the Editor: Be sure to ask every one's opinion on all you do. They'd give it to you anyway, but it flatters them for you to ask for it.
11. Don't fail to ask Mr. Browning for the College's contribution to the Annual. He gave the '23 Staff $1750.00.

For the Work of the Ministry
The demand for pastors who are "thoroughly furnished" for the work of the ministry was never greater than today, the opportunity for service never more inviting. The Rochester Theological Seminary seeks to prepare men for the practical work of the ministry by a comprehensive training in both scholarship and methods of service. The Seminary has a Faculty of ten members, and a Library of 50,000 volumes, including the famous Necander collection. It offers a wide choice of electives and grants the degrees of B.D. and M.Th. All courses in the University of Rochester are open to Seminary students. The city of Rochester furnishes a remarkable laboratory for observation and for participation in church and charitable work. The 1922-1923 session has been its largest and best session. Great progress has been made in strengthening of faculty, increase of student body, enlargement of course of study, and in other valuable ways. Its various departments in Theological study, in Gospel Music, Religious Education and Missions have greatly grown and have been materially strengthened. The Master's degrees are given to college graduates, Bachelor's degrees given to junior college graduates, diplomas given to high school graduates, and certificates of proficiency given to others without these educational qualifications, after pursuing the required course of study. A great spiritual, missionary atmosphere and splendid equipment, a Christ-honoring brotherhood, wonderful opportunity for study, many fields of religious activity open to aggressive workers.
